Conscious Discipline

Are there consequences in Conscious Discipline?

A common misconception about Conscious Discipline is that there are no consequences.

Six powers and skills form a foundation for effective consequences.

Building that foundation takes time but has proven results.

Three Types of Consequences

- 1. Natural Consequences: Motivate connected kids to learn a new skill and put it in their "backpack."
- 2. Logical Consequences: Prearranged by adults and motivate children to use skills they already have.
- 3. Problem-Solving: A helpful tool for chronic problems or for issues that involve the whole class.
